Fraxel

The laser therapy known as Fraxel™ is performed on areas of the skin to greatly reduce the appearance of fine lines, wrinkles, acne scars and stretch marks. FDA approved, Fraxel laser procedures are often also used to treat age spots and sun damage on many areas of the face and neck as well as the hands and arms.

How does it work?

Fraxel does not remove the top layer of skin but makes tiny microscopic sites of impact surrounded by healthy tissue. Fraxel targets certain damaged areas of tissue while the body heals itself with the rapid increase of collagen and new cell production. This reduces healing time so you can resume your daily activities as quickly as possible.

What should I expect?

With little to no down time and fast healing makes Fraxel one of the best treatment options available today. It should take about 30 minutes and only topical anesthetic is used. For the best results, patients should strive to receive four treatments. You may experience some mild redness and swelling but this will go away within a day or so. After your treatment you will be able to return to wearing make up, shaving and resume your regular daily activities. You will want to apply SPF 30 or higher at least twice a day for about a month after completing all your treatments.

Who can benefit from Fraxel?

Anyone who has wrinkles, age spots, acne scars, or sun damaged skin can benefit from Fraxel Laser treatment.

When will I see results?

You will start to see results right immediately following your treatment. Also, as time goes by results will become more noticeable. Your skin will start to feel and appear smoother and softer even after the very first treatment. Fine lines around your eyes and mouth will noticeably fade, as will acne scars, uneven coloring and the brown spots caused by aging and sun exposure. It may take up to a total of 4 to 5 months to see the full results.
